A Hmong Times Interview With Dr. Yang Dao

Following the meeting at Central High School, on April 22, 2000 (see Hmong Times May 1, 2000), Hmong Times reporter, Michael Doyle, submitted several questions to Dr. Yang Dao for his response. The following are the questions and responses of Dr. Yang Dao.

HT: What was the purpose of and the outcome of the October 2 meeting at the LAX Hotel?

YD: I attended the October 2 meeting in Los Angeles as an invited guest. The purpose of this meeting was purely and simply an informative meeting to allow Laotian political "enemies" of yesterday to draw lessons from the past and to think about the future of Laos in the international political evolution. The outcome was that a dialogue has been established between the representatives of the Lao People's Democratic Republic and some Laotians (including Hmong) living overseas after 24 years of suspicion, hatred and conflict since the takeover of Laos by the communists in 1975.

Dr. Yang Dao

Cheu Lee / Hmong Times

HT: Who was present and who did they represent?

YD: Present at that meeting were: Mr. Somsavat Lengsavad, the Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Lao People's Democratic Republic; the Laotian ambassadors in Bangkok, Thailand, and in Washington, D.C., a group of Laotian Americans (including Hmong) and myself (Dr. Yang Dao). I represented nobody else but myself who is a U.S. citizen having roots in Laos, carrying concerns about the situation in that country, and conscious of my responsibilities toward all the people we have abandoned to their fate in the country.

HT: What was the purpose of a January 16, 1999 meeting at your Brooklyn Park home? Who was there?

YD: On January 16, 1999, two Hmong friends of mine invited Mr. Khamchong Luangpraseut to talk about the "Roles and Responsibilities of a Good Citizen" and to share his vision about the "future of the Multi-ethnic Country of Laos" to a group of Lao-Hmong. They asked me to host this meeting in my home, because Mr. Luangpraseut was a good friend of mine. Mr. Khamchong Luangpraseut was a Lao Phuan, born in my Xiang Khouang province in Laos. We attended the same Lao-French High School, the Lycee de Vientiane in 1960. After receiving his Master's Degree in economy in Europe, he went back to Laos and served as a Director in the Ministry of Information in the Royal Lao Government until May 1975. Immigrated first to France, then to the United States, around 1978-1979, he worked for the Lao Family Community Association in Santa Ana, California, where he also became an advisor for former General Vang Pao in the social and political matters.

HT: Was money raised at this meeting to send representatives to Laos? Did they go? Who were they? What did they do there?

YD: No money was raised at this meeting to send representatives to Laos. However approximately $1,000.00 (one thousand) were donated by people attending the meeting to help cover the cost of the food and drinks at the meeting, and to assist Mr. Luangpraseut for his expenses (air ticket, hotel) from California to Minnesota.

HT: What is your position concerning human rights in Laos?

YD: In June 1976, I was the first and only Hmong and Laotian refugee to meet with Dr. Berta, the representative of the United Nations High Commissariat for Refugees

Dated 31 August 1987

A call to duty

To: Fathers, Mothers, and Brethren of Laos within and without the country

We request to notify you of the Neo Hom National redemption effort organization. It is true that I am the founder- and I have thus included leaders of several political parties assembled together under the organization name of the Neo Hom National Liberation Effort of Laos, but it is still incomplete at this time. Therefore new policies have been laid down to assemble and unite all Laotian people to participate in this large organization- for the purpose of harnessing the noble strength of our nation to seize victory from the enemy and reap the rewards of success.

When speaking of the Neo Hom National Liberation, If there are any of you who support me, I request you to support the Neo Hom National Liberation effort- because- yes- I am the founder and policy maker of this organization- having fervently hoped to rely upon the fathers, mothers and brothers of Laos- all 4 million of them - to come together in unified combat with the Northern Vietnamese enemy- the oppressive invaders who molest, conquer, and destroy our nation of Laos at this very moment. I still have a plan to call upon the fathers, mothers, and brothers who didn't become involved quickly enough last time to prove their divine excellence again swiftly. Therefore, the call beckons once more: Let every one and all support the leaders of the Neo Hom Liberation Front. Don't leave me by myself, because on my own I cannot perform this overwhelming work. We must share these duties in a responsive manner progressing with time and events.

Wherefore, it is hoped that after you have recieved this call to duty that you understand and lend your cooperation to obey the counsel from every appointed leader of the Neo Hom in each of their respective corners of the world- to come serve the fathers, mothers, and brothers of Laos when the guardians of our homeland do battle with the Northern Vietnamese- who come to consume our nation of Laos at this time. Let us go together and speedily take charge of the destiny of our nation and especially our homeland. End.

Memorandum

To : SAC, SACRAMENTO (2-SC-) (P) Date 4/28/94
From : SA [redacted] b6
Subject: GENERAL VANG PAO, b7C
LAO INDEPENDENT UNITED FRONT;
NEUTRALITY MATTER - LAOS;
OO: SACRAMENTO

9-9434 Consolidated into 9-MP-29834 2-0-11*

On 4/26/94, [redacted]
[redacted] provided considerable detail concerning the activities of the captioned subject and subject's organization.

b6
b7C
b7D

Aside from the large amount of background information provided concerning this matter, the essence of the complaint can be narrowed to two areas of activity which may constitute a violation of the Neutrality Act.

1) General VANG PAO and his organization plotted and planned in the United States for the possible kidnap and subsequent murder of VUE MAI, DOB: 5/3/37. VUE MAI, a former associate of VANG PAO in the resistance movement, had, as of approximately 1991, allied himself with a repatriation movement, which, if fully implemented, would have signaled the demise of VANG PAO's organization and would have severely limited the source of funds for VANG PAO. VUE MAI disappeared in Laos in 1993.

2) VANG PAO's organization in the United States, and particularly in and among the Hmong population of Central California, has been, and continues to be, active in the solicitation of funds for the maintenance of the LAO INDEPENDENT UNITED FRONT. These monies, which are subsequently provided to VANG PAO, who resides in Orange County, California, are then utilized to arm and equip members of the resistance movement in Thailand who have conducted guerrilla activities against the currently constituted Lao Government.

It is recommended that a new case be opened, that a letterhead memorandum be prepared and disseminated, and that the matter subsequently be closed pending review by FBIHQ, DOJ, and other interested agencies.

Military wants action against Vang Pao's men

THE military asked the police yesterday to take legal action against Laotian right wing movements led by former Laotian strongman Gen Vang Pao for allegedly using Thai territory to conduct subversive activities in Laos.

The complaint was formally lodged with Crime Suppression Division chief Pol Maj Gen Wannarat Kongsak by the director of the Armed Forces' Intelligence Department, Lt Gen Thiradej Meephan, as Laotian Foreign Minister Somsavath Lengsavad began an official visit to Thailand yesterday.

The complaint said Gen Vang Pao's movements called the "Lao United Independent Front" and the "Lao United Independent Army" had used Thai territory to build up arms and manpower in order to undertake subversive activities in Laos aimed at toppling the Vietnamese government.

The movements were active along the Thai-Laotian border in Chiang Khan District of Phayao, and Thung Chang and Tha Wang Pha districts of Nan, according to the complaint.

The movements' activities, if allowed to continue, would adversely affect the Thai-Lao relations and could result in armed hostilities by Pathet Lao troops against Thai border villagers, the complaint said.

Pol Maj Gen Wannarat said he had appointed two investigating teams to look into the military's complaint.

Meanwhile, National Security Council chief Gen Charan Kullavanijaya said it was believed Gen Vang Pao had about thousand men operating along the Thai-Lao border at the moment.

VANG PAO ... subversive activities

Gen Vang Pao, now living in exile in the United States, has been known to be actively involved in subversive activities against the Laotian government.

Thailand has mounted a campaign to arrest members of anti-Vientiane movements during the past two years and has requested the United States to help persuade Gen Vang Pao to stop using Thailand as a springboard for subversive activities against Laos.

Gen Charan said the latest arrest of members of the right-wing Laotian movements were made at Wat Tham Krabok in Saraburi about two months ago.

Wat Tham Krabok, run by Magsaysay Award winner Phra Chamroon Pan-chan, came under the Interior Ministry's close scrutiny after it was discovered that the temple was giving sanctuary to a large number of Hmong hilltribe people believed to sympathise with anti-Vientiane rebels.

Gen Charan said the military had sought the arrest of the movement members probably because it might have obtained intelligence information that the Laotian rebel leader might have entered Thailand.

The Laotian foreign minister said last night that the arrest of Gen Vang Pao would benefit both Thailand and Laos since it would eradicate one of the problems obstructing good bilateral ties.

Thailand's legal action against Gen Vang Pao and Gen Thonglud Chokboun peth, another key member of the anti-Vientiane movements, would be regarded as a cooperative effort towards better relations, he said.

Mr Somsavath said both rebel leaders were considered persons who posed a threat to Laos' national security since 1975.

He added that if they were allowed to live in Thailand, their presence would cause misunderstandings between the two countries.

Foreign Minister Prasong Soonsirp said yesterday that he was not yet informed about the military's request for the arrest of the Laotian rebels.

But he reiterated that Thailand had no policy to allow any party to use its territory as a base to stage subversive activities against the Laotian government and was trying its best to stop such activities.

US help sought over Lao rebels

THE Supreme Command has requested the United States to consider taking legal action against anti-Vientiane fighters Gen Wan Pao and Gen Thonglid Chokbounpetch for alleged illegal activity carried out in Thailand.

An Army source said the two, who were named in a Supreme Command complaint to the police on Wednesday, were believed to be in the United States.

The request was conveyed through the US embassy in Bangkok as well as through the Thai military attache in Washington, the source said.

The source said a similar request was conveyed to Australia on Wednesday through the Australian Embassy's military attache here, on the chance that the two might be in Australia.

Wang Pao spent two years along the Thai-Laotian border after the 1975 defeat of the US-backed Hmong guerrillas by the Communist government in Vientiane.

He then left to live in the United States from where he frequently returned to Thailand, the Army source said.

According to the source, possible legal action the United States might take could include the eventual arrest and extradition of the two generals to Thailand.

The sources said the United States might be able to arrest them for violating US laws against its nationals trying to subvert foreign governments.

However, the Supreme Command's Intelligence Chief, Col Chanya Warakamin, said the Army had not yet asked the United States to arrest the two, who are now naturalized American citizens. But he claimed that the United States had provided suggestions on legal angles which could be exploited to allow action to be taken against the two. He did not elaborate.

The Supreme Command on Wednesday lodged a complaint with the Crime Suppression Division asking the police to arrest the two who the command said had violated Thailand's national security laws by organizing the United Independent Front and Laos United Independent Force and making forays into Laos for the purpose of sabotage. The complaint also covered Wang Pao's followers in Thailand.

The move signalled the Army's complete break from the generals who in the past were the Thai Army and the American troops' allies in the anti-Communist movement along the Thai-Laotian border. The US had always refused Thai requests for cooperation to stop Wang Pao, saying the US government did not support him. The Supreme Commander ordered on August 20 of last year that action be taken against the anti-Vientiane members residing in Thailand, Col Chanya said. The Army has mounted a campaign to suppress the anti-Vientiane movement during the past two years which led to the arrests of dozens of Wang Pao's supporters and members. Legal action has been limited to immigration law violations.

"Most of them were arrested, checked for possession of weapons and sent back to whichever country they had come from," Chanya said.

Previous arrests have included three of Wang Pao's Hmong military officers at Wat Tham Krabok drug treatment centre which is believed by the government to be a supply base for money and arms for Hmong fighters along the Thai-Laotian border.

Chanya said the Army had run out of patience in trying to thwart the group's activities so it had to resort to asking for the arrest of the two leaders under criminal law.

Wimol says Vang Pao faces arrest in Thailand

THE military has filed charges against Laotian rebel leader Vang Pao so that legal action can be taken against him if he reenters Thailand, Army Chief Gen Wimol Wongwanich said yesterday.

The military would not tolerate any attempt by outsiders to use Thailand as a base to engage in hostile acts against neighbouring countries, he said, noting that it would otherwise cause a misunderstanding between Thailand and its neighbours.

Gen Wimol told the Bangkok Post yesterday that the Supreme Command's charges filed with the police would prevent Gen Vang Pao from returning to Thailand or else he would face arrest.

The army commander said he did not want to see Thai territory used as a springboard for any group to conduct subversive activities against neighwas initiated by the military and the Foreign Ministry has yet to be formally told of the move.

He had already informed his Laotian counterpart Somsavath Lengsavad who is visiting Bangkok that Thailand had a policy not to allow other persons to use Thai territory to attack Laos.

The minister said he has not followed the late activities of Gen Vang Pao's movement but had learned from intelligence reports that the general had frequently changed passports.

The same intelligence report also stated that Gen Vang Pao had violated Thai laws by sending his men to use Thai soil as a base to engage in illegal activities, Spn Ldr Prasong said.

Meanwhile, chief abbot of Wat Tham Krabok, Phra Chamroon Pannchan, yesterday criticised the Government for its allegation that his religious centre was providing sanctuary for Laotian resistance rebels.

"If the Government has the evidence, it should take legal action (against the centre) instead of continuing to make accusations as it has for the past two years," the monk said.

"While the outside world has supported the detoxification programme at the Wat Tham Krabok's Drug Rehabilitation Centre in Saraburi here, our government has kept saying bad things about it," he said.

Phra Chamroon said government security officials had visited his centre on several occasions but they had not obtained any evidence to charge him with anything.

A checkpoint has also been set up in front of the centre to screen Hmong people entering and leaving, but failed to detect any illegal activities which could lead to action being taken against the centre, he said.

At present, there were about 9,000 Hmongs at the monastery. These Hmongs have sometimes travelled to their home town in the North but he had not received a hint that his men had gaged in subversive activities, Chamroon said.

The Magsaysay claimed government officials always told

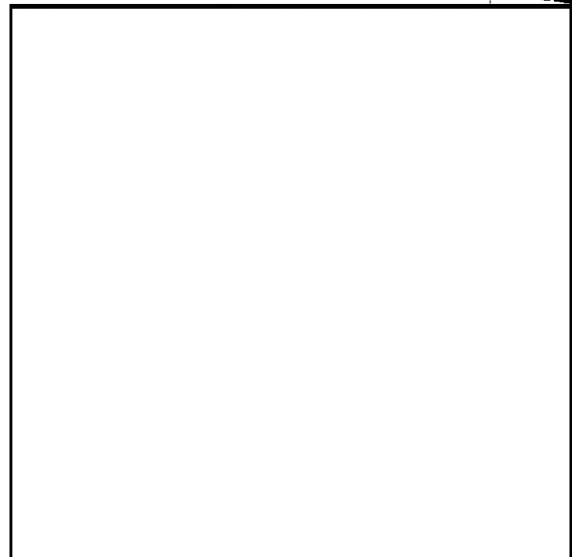

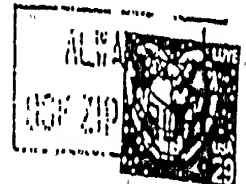

Some of these that Gen Vang Pao had huge funds and intelligence officer sergeant who hearsay.

"I have dedicated work and helping up their habits. My ment is destruction," the monk said.

"I take only on on foot. I am a patience at this."

"Not only that also tried to defame the monk said."

CONGRESSIONAL SUPPORT FOR

HON. DUNCAN HUNTER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 17, 1994

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to include in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD an important and eloquent letter to the Government of Thailand about the Hmong people of Laos, their leader General Vang Pao and Lao General Thonglao Chokbunbun. Congressman BEN GILMAN, the vice chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, recently wrote this letter in response to a number of deeply disturbing reports from Thailand about the plight of Hmong refugees and the situation of General Vang Pao and General Thonglao Chokbunbun.

As a Vietnam veteran, I appreciate the great sacrifices General Vang Pao and the Hmong people made for the United States and Thailand during the war years.

General Vang Pao continues to work to bring human rights, freedom, and democracy to the Hmong and to all the peoples of Laos. I know that many other Members of the U.S. Congress as well as America's Vietnam veterans will appreciate Congressman Gilman's letter and the help and cooperation of Thailand on this important matter.

COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Washington, DC, March 10, 1994.

His Excellency M. L. BIRACHONONG KASEMSRI,
Ambassador E. and P., Embassy of Thailand,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. AMBASSADOR: Twenty-two years ago, during my first official visit overseas, I met with General Vang Pao in Laos. I was deeply impressed by this man and his people who made such enormous efforts and paid so dearly, to attempt to stop the spread of communism in Southeast Asia. Accordingly, when I learned last week that there were reports in the Bangkok media which stated that Thailand's Supreme Command has asked the United States to take action against General Vang Pao and Khonglao Chokbunbun for alleged illegal activities in Thailand, I became concerned and perplexed.

It is my hope that the request from the Army does not represent a policy decision supported by the Government of Thailand.

During and after the Vietnam War, Hmong leaders and their people fought loyally beside Thai and American soldiers, and paid an enormous price. The Hmong continue to suffer tremendously from the sacrifices they made on behalf of Thailand and the United States.

We would be sending the wrong signal to the dictatorships remaining in Asia if the Hmong, who have borne a disproportionate share of the struggle for freedom and democracy in Southeast Asia, are now made unwelcome. Accordingly, I look forward to working with you to find a way in which we can resolve the problems facing the Hmong and I thank your action and government for having been a refuge for them for so many years.

Sincerely,

BENJAMIN A. GILMAN,
Ranking Republican Member.

March 3, 1994

The Honorable David R. Obey, Chairman
Subcommittee on Foreign Operations Appropriations
H307 Capitol
U.S. Congress
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Obey:

It is our understanding that taxpayers' money -- $1.5-$2 million -- may again be appropriated in Fiscal Year 1995 to send Hmong refugees and asylum seekers from Thailand back to the repressive communist government in Laos. We ask you to stop funding this highly controversial and questionable repatriation program that now appears to be a further betrayal by the U.S. of the Hmong people -- as well as a betrayal of America's Vietnam veterans who fought in that war together with them.

As you know, the Hmong fought for America during the Vietnam war and were the victims of genocide after the U.S. withdrawal. They saved many downed American pilots, yet the Hmong are forgotten Vietnam veterans because Laos was a very secret theatre of that war. Precision night and all weather bombing by U.S. airpower of targets in North Vietnam was only accomplished because of the ultra-secret U.S. facility (Lima Site 85) atop Pho Pha Thi mountain in Laos that the Hmong people guarded under the leadership of General Vang Pao.

Unfortunately, the Hmong people continue to suffer hardship because of the war, including tens of thousands of Hmong who fled from Laos to Thailand.

We strongly urge you not to appropriate funds for this program. A number of recent developments seriously question the wisdom of the U.S. Congress spending taxpayers' money to send the Hmong back to Laos. For example, we are concerned about independent reports regarding the events surrounding Mr. Vue Mai's recent disappearance in Laos (a Hmong leader of the repatriation movement); the ongoing civil war in Laos that has recently placed some major provinces where Hmong are resettled off-limits to State Department officials; and the continued violations of human rights by the Lao government which has closed Laos to monitoring by all independent human rights organizations.

Of additional concern is that a number of independent human rights organizations report that some of the Hmong being repatriated back to Laos have been improperly screened by Thai and UNHCR authorities. These human rights groups report that Hmong veterans of the CIA's "secret war" and members of the current Hmong resistance—as well as their family members—have been unfairly screened out and been subjected to mandatory (forced) repatriation back to Laos where their security is in question. Recently, some Hmong have committed suicide in the Thai camps after they learned they would be sent back to the Pathet Lao authorities whom they have fought against.

As early as 1989, the Lawyers Committee for Human Rights in their report Forced Back and Forgotten: The Human Rights of Laoian Asylum seekers in Thailand cited unfairness and corruption by some Thai officials extorting money from Hmong during or after the screening process. Recently, desperate Hmong-American families, receiving frantic requests from 305 of their people in a Thai refugee camp who were afraid to be sent back to Laos. They sent tens of thousands of dollars to Thai camp officials who pocketed the money and did not follow through with their side of the bargain. The Hmong, and other reliable sources, claim corrupt Thai camp officials routinely extort money from Hmong refugees and asylum seekers in the camps. It is our understanding that the Foreign Affairs Committee may soon be holding a hearing to address many of these disturbing problems.

Again, we urge you not to appropriate any more money to repatriate Hmong back to Laos. Instead, we request that this funding be transferred to the appropriate account and be specifically used to provide emergency humanitarian support for the Hmong—in Ban Napho refugee camp, Wat Tham Krabok and elsewhere in Thailand—until they can be safely resettled in third countries (like France, Canada and Australia) in three to four years. There the Hmong can live with their families and communities where their human rights, security and well-being can be better ensured.

If necessary, we ask you to use as leverage planned levels of foreign aid to Thailand and Laos and make the aid contingent upon their full cooperation on the Hmong refugee crisis and the abandonment of the original terms of the 1991 Luang Prabang Tripartite Agreement (to send all Hmong in Thailand back to Laos by the end of 1994). This agreement appears to have been nullified by a host of recent events—some of which we mentioned in the above.

We request your assistance with this urgent matter and would appreciate the favor of your reply.

Sincerely,

b6

THE LAO UNITED INDEPENDENT ARMY

This letterhead memorandum is classified "~~SECRET~~" in its entirety.

The majority of the information provided in this letterhead memorandum was provided by a source with whom insufficient contact has been made to determine source's reliability but who has been intimately connected with the LAO UNITED INDEPENDENT FRONT and who has had association with General VANG PAO and VUE MAI, a recently-disappeared associate of VANG PAO.

General VANG PAO, a former general in the Lao Army, is now a naturalized United States citizen who resides in Orange County, California. In 1975, following the defeat of U.S.-backed Hmong guerrillas fighting against the Communist Laotian forces, VANG PAO, a leader of the resistance movement, spent some two years along the Lao-Thai border engaging in guerrilla attacks against the Lao Communist government. He had at his disposal a significant number of Hmong refugees who had fled Laos but who were now living in refugee camps in Thailand. Even after VANG PAO's entry into the United States, he spearheaded a resistance movement in Thailand, especially amongst Hmong mountain people living in camps in Thailand. The dream was for an eventual return to a state of affairs as existed before Communist rule.

Amongst those at VANG PAO's right hand was VUE MAI, date of birth: May 3, 1937, place of birth: Xiengkhoung Province, Laos. VUE MAI was also a former officer in the Royal Armed Forces of Laos prior to the takeover of the Laotian Government by the Pathet Lao in 1975. VUE MAI remained in Thailand and subsequently became the Hmongs' elected spokesman of the Ban Vinai refugee camps in Thailand. He also became a top aid to VANG PAO in the United Front for the Liberation of Laos for most of the 1980s. VUE MAI remained in Thailand but was generously supported by funds raised by General VANG PAO in the United States and around the world. In the years of the '80s, a significant number of Hmong refugees were resettled in the United States, the majority of whom currently reside in Central California, in an around Fresno and Merced counties.

In the early part of 1990, VUE MAI had been in contact with United States embassy personnel in Bangkok and United Nations refugee representatives. He was persuaded to support a repatriation program wherein those in refugee camps in Thailand would be encouraged to return to Laos to resume their lives. Initially, according to the source, VUE MAI was receptive to the idea of repatriation. At the very beginning, the resistance movement of VANG PAO also agreed with VUE MAI's participation in the program. This agreement to support repatriation was reached when VANG PAO was allowed to enter Thailand through Malaysia for a meeting in 1990 with resistance leaders such as General THONGLIT CHOKBENGBOUN and Colonel LOUN SISOUNONH. They were, of course, acutely aware of the fact that the Thai Government, interested in better relations with its neighbor, Laos, was active in suppressing resistance activities in Thailand. The Thai Government was actively encouraging Hmong refugees to either leave the camps for another country or to repatriate to Laos.

VUE MAI was assigned by VANG PAO to pay an official visit to the United States for further discussions with United States officials about the repatriation program. He subsequently did visit Washington, D.C. to discuss the plan. VUE MAI was encouraged by officials of the State Department to lead the Hmong refugees back to Laos. According to the source, VUE MAI was promised financial assistance to aid in the repatriation and to develop an economic self sufficiency for the Hmong people. Apparently, according to the source, the resistance movement had a quick change of mind concerning the repatriation program. According to the source, VUE MAI had surmised that if repatriation were successfully implemented, the resistance movement would lose a significant portion of its base and, further, would have no further reason to exist, thus greatly reducing fund-raising efforts by the resistance movement. Nonetheless, VUE MAI agreed that a repatriation program was the best alternative, and he subsequently broke his links to the resistance and decided to commit himself fully to the repatriation program. Following that, his life was repeatedly threatened, and he was advised that his security would not be guaranteed should he return to Thailand to encourage repatriation.

This idea of repatriation placed VUE MAI in total opposition to resistance leaders, who argued that collaboration with the program would mean a cessation of the movement. In fact, this change of heart by VUE MAI prompted General VANG PAO and his associates to pay a personal visit to the Ban Vinai camp, where the inhabitants were informed that VUE MAI had sold out all of the Hmong refugees to the Lao Government, thus undermining the resistance. He was labeled a Communist. Despite the clamor and threats, VUE MAI did return to Thailand. On August 12, 1991, an assassination attempt was made against VUE MAI. Two hand grenades were thrown into his house in the Ban Vinai camp. Subsequently, the United States and Thai authorities moved VUE MAI to Bangkok for his own personal protection.

As part of his duties, he visited Vientiane, Laos, on numerous occasions, where he met with United Nations, United States, and Lao Government officials on a regular basis to discuss possible resettlement sites for Hmong repatriates. Progress seemed very slow; and according to the source, VUE MAI did not make any subsequent contacts with the resistance movement for fear of being arrested by the Lao Government. In addition, it was well known in the Hmong community in the United States that VUE MAI had become the number one enemy of the resistance after he severed his ties with the movement. It would not have been conceivable for him to attempt to collaborate with resistance people again, inasmuch as he had virtually disowned them. The source acknowledged that VUE MAI had expressed frustration over the slow progress of both the United States Government and, particularly, the Lao Government in implementing any of the recommendations made concerning the repatriation.

It was on September 11, 1993, that VUE MAI disappeared from his residence in Vientiane. After a week or so when VUE MAI could not be located. [REDACTED]

Hmong leader's disappearance worries family

■ Vue Mai has a vital leadership role in the U.S.-Thai-Lao repatriation plan.

By Alex Pulaski and Michael Doyle
The Fresno Bee

Eight months after dropping from sight in Laos, Vue Mai leaves behind him a heartsick Fresno family and a confused future for his Hmong people.

Vue disappeared Sept. 11 from his home in Vientiane, Laos. No word has been heard since, throwing into a shambles efforts to repatriate thousands of Hmong in Thai refugee camps.

It has also prompted criticism that the U.S. government is making only a token effort to find Vue, despite his strategic importance in supporting a joint U.S.-Thai-Lao repatriation plan.

"The U.S. government really hasn't taken all the necessary action to get the Vue Mai case solved," said Soyasith Ya of Sacramento, a Hmong intellectual leader who met with Vue Mai two weeks before his disappearance.

Ya remains convinced, as do many, that repatriation efforts involving the Hmong will go nowhere until Vue Mai's disappearance has been explained. That carries substantial implications for already America's Hmong capital with 32,000 Hmong and the likely destination for many of the 22,000 Hmong who remain in Thai camps.

Vue Mai matters so much because of his leadership role in the Hmong community. Once part of the armed resistance to the Laotian communist government, he later switched to champion a return of refugees to the country. His disappearance, State Department officials said, caused a setback to the repatriation effort.

Anxiously waiting. Mo Plia Lee worries about the disappearance of her husband Vang Pao in Laos. Vang Pao, a pivotal figure in the U.S.-Thai-Lao repatriation plan, has been missing for eight months. He was last seen during a tour of Laos with United Nations officials, according to Lee.

The Fresno Bee

Hmong: Family worries about man's disappearance

"This has been a topic of almost every conversation we have had with the Lao government," said one State Department official, speaking on condition of anonymity. "We raise it, we press them, we haven't forgotten."

The State Department listed the disappearance in its latest human rights report on Laos as a way to focus pressure and, after a congressional hearing last month, officials called in the Lao ambassador for further discussions.

'Wishy-washy' response

Rep. Richard Lehman, D-North Fork, has written the State Department twice seeking information and received what an aide called a "wishy-washy" response.

But so far, Laos hasn't given the State Department anything beyond status reports of an investigation that seemingly has borne no fruit.

"We have to depend on the Lao government to be forthcoming," the State Department official said. "They've sought to reassure us, [but] they've never divulged any details."

How play?

Two theories exist to explain Vang Pao's disappearance, but neither as been substantiated. The first, endorsed by Hmong activists who advocate the armed overthrow of Laos and say the communists can never be trusted, welcome the Hmong's return, that the Lao government kidnapped or killed Vang Pao.

Laotian officials strongly reject the allegation, and Clinton administration officials are likewise skeptical.

"The Lao government does not

'It's been a long time. We hope that my father is well, but day by day we worry more and more.'

Wa Vang, son of Vang Pao have any reason to make this person disappear," said Khen Thong, a spokesman for the Lao embassy in Washington. "The Lao government does not receive any benefit from this."

The second theory is that Vang Pao was killed by supporters of a Hmong resistance group led by traditional leader and former general Vang Pao.

Vang Pao, a one-time resistance leader in the Thai refugee camp of Ban Vinai, switched sides in 1991 and became a pivotal supporter of a peaceful return to Laos.

The State Department's public position is that "to date, there is no evidence that ties either the Lao government or elements of the waning Lao resistance forces to Vang Pao's disappearance."

Hmong support of U.S.

The Hmong supported covert U.S. air activity over Laos during the Vietnam War and, after the war ended in 1975, thousands of Hmong were viewed as traitors and killed by the pro-communist Pathet Lao soldiers as they fled to Thailand.

In the last decade, however, about 7,500 Hmong have returned to Laos.

The State Department says returnees are safe, but even some Hmong supporters of the repatriation program believe it is flawed because it is not monitored closely enough. Vang Pao said it also is hampered by insufficient payments to assist settlers and land problems, including settlement of the Hmong far from their traditional areas in northern Laos.

Threatening letters

As a result of Vang Pao's switch in support from the resistance to peaceful repatriation, he began receiving threatening letters from the resistance, according to his son, Wa Vang of Fresno.

In August 1991, Wa Vang said, Vang Pao had to be moved from Ban Vinai to Bangkok after two grenades were thrown into his house.

Similar threats kept some Hmong from testifying at last month's hearings.

Wa Vang submitted written testimony but said he did not appear in person, in part, because of concerns for his safety. He said he also had been to Washington with his mother two weeks before and did not think another trip was necessary.

Vang Pao influence

Wa Vang said he met with Vang Pao in early April at Vang Pao's request. During that meeting, Vang Pao encouraged Vang Pao to testify, but only if he said what Vang Pao wanted him to say.

Rep. Jim Leach, R-Iowa, said at last month's House hearing that this was outrageous. Staffers for the House Foreign Affairs Committee say they are still looking into the allegations.

In the months since Vang Pao's disappearance, Vang Pao and his supporters have reportedly stepped up efforts in the Fresno area and elsewhere to collect resistance contributions from the Hmong.

Fearing the worst

In February, the Thai government, citing Vang Pao's involvement in the resistance against Laos, filed a legal complaint that Vang Pao be arrested if he set foot in Thailand. Vang Pao lives in Santa Ana but travels extensively.

Vang Pao has ignored repeated requests from The Bee for an interview.

Apart from the political implications of Vang Pao's disappearance, his son, Wa Vang, and wife Mo Plia Lee, are fighting their own battles between grief and hope. Lee came to Fresno 11 days before her husband disappeared, and Wa Vang said she was depressed and tearful in the months since.

"It's been a long time," Wa Vang said. "We hope that my father is well, but day by day we worry more and more. Time is moving on, and we don't know what's going to happen."

Subject: Examination of possible contaminated material

Dear

b6
b7C

General Vang Pao is a member of the Laotian Government in exile. He is recognized by our Government as the number two person in the power structure. He is currently residing in California, but travels frequently to Washington D. C.

Approximately two months ago General Pao and other members of the Government in exile made a declaration of independence from the current Communist Puppet Government. This declaration was submitted to the United Nations and basically calls for the overthrow of the existing government.

Approximately two weeks ago General Pao and others were to meet locally for a banquet. Food prepared for this meal was to be authentic Laotian and some of it was obtained directly from Laos.

The enclosed suspect bamboo shoots were shipped from Laos in a dried form. According to Ger Vang, a Butte County local resident and member of the General's staff, the bamboo shoots are a favorite of the General's. The bamboo must be soaked in water prior to cooking. Ger Vang told me that when the bamboo was placed in water they began to ooze dark green substance.

Ger Vang told us that this is not proper, the bamboo never secretes this color material. Ger Vang thinks that the substance could possibly be an attempt to poison the General and some of his staff.

Ger Vang gave me the tainted bamboo in the original bowl that the discovery was made. It had already begun to show some signs of deterioration so I placed it in the freezer.

Original
Copy & Specs Detached

At your request, I contacted Ger Vang and obtained a control sample of the same type of bamboo.

I have also attempted to obtain the original packaging, but I am finding it difficult to gather everything necessary due to the language and cultural barriers. If the packaging becomes available I will forward it to you.

I have been in touch with the Chico FBI office and made them aware of the situation. We have agreed that if the original bamboo is found to be contaminated, at that time we will make the proper contact with the State Department and all other necessary notifications.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Re Butte airtel to Denver dated 5/2/85.

Referenced communication indicated allegations had been made that VANG PAO through his Lao Family Community, Inc., had been extorting money from Lao refugees. Referenced communication requested Los Angeles to identify Lao Family Community, Inc., and obtain background on VANG PAO.

The Lao Family Community Inc., 1140 South Bristol, Santa Ana, California, (714) 556-9502, [redacted] was telephonically contacted utilizing a suitable pretext and advised his organization was involved in working with refugees and aiding in the resolution of resettlement problems such as housing, health problems and family counseling. All indications from local sources in the Vietnamese and Cambodian community are that this is a legitimate operation. Santa Ana Police Department, Community Services Unit, has frequent contact with [redacted] and has learned nothing of a derogatory nature.

The United Lao Development Company, also located at 1140 South Bristol, Santa Ana, (714) 540-7042, is a "business development office" to support and direct members of the Lao community in establishing businesses within Orange County. Santa Ana Business License records reflect the company has been licensed since September 1984 and VANG PAO is President.

During 1983, VANG PAO was rumored to be associated with the Lao Development Center, 14095 Euclid Street, Garden Grove, California; but was at that time residing in Montana, possibly with [redacted] Montana. He has since relocated to the Orange County area, address not known at present.

VANG PAO is a former Royal Lao Army officer and leader of HMONG Tribal Group. As Major General VANG PAO was compelled to flee Laos in 1975 upon the installation of a Communist Government. He has allegedly been affiliated with or behind "resistance" efforts to liberate Laos. Fund raising is believed to have been accomplished.

Los Angeles source [redacted] is acquainted with VANG PAO and describes him as committed to aiding the HMONG and other refugees from Laos. Source was unaware of any extortion schemes within the Lao community; but advised that because of the prestige of VANG PAO within the community, his name could conceivably be used by unrelated individuals for the purpose of extortion.

Re Butte airtel to Denver, dated 5/2/85.

On 5/22/85, MI asset advised that he is quite familiar with subject who has set up a very powerful network of Hmong and Laotians throughout the country. Subject was originally in Montana, but moved to Santa Ana, California because of the large Laotian population in that city.

According to the source, PAO'S main desire is to reestablish his army so that he can go back to Laos and kick the communists out of the country.

Subject comes to Wisconsin approximately five times per year. He was in Appleton, Wisconsin in April, 1985, and left with another large sum of money. He did not come to Green Bay, Wisconsin on this most recent visit. Appleton, Wisconsin has very large Hmong and Laotian population, and the General can probably get more money out of that community. He generally will hit several other communities in Wisconsin during the same trip. Assuming that he could pick up $8,000 to $12,000 per community per trip, he could acquire a large amount of money over the course of the year. The General seems to be able to acquire alot of money throughout the United States, and is not held accountable for it.

[redacted] the Office of Refugee Resettlement in Chicago, Illinois. One of the questions that the source has is whether or not [redacted] is really working for the betterment of all refugees through the Resettlement Program, or if he continues to work for the General.

Re: General Vang Pao. Espionage.

Dear Mr. Fallin:

A Laotian by the name of [redacted] brought the enclosed letter into our office July 3, 1985. [redacted] advised that he has no personal knowledge of the contents of the letter which is written in Laotian (enclosure 'A'). But he, [redacted] having previous contact with this office concerning refugee matters has been requested to translate in typing the letter addressed to [redacted]. The letter making allegations that General Vang Pao is periodically in Thailand and in possible employment of the Soviet Union.

[redacted] advised that the two persons who would be most knowledgeable of the information trying to be expressed are:

[redacted]

Telephone: [redacted]

[redacted]

Telephone: [redacted]

[redacted] advised the information that he has concerning Gen. Vang Pao has nothing to do with intelligence but Vang Pao is a Laotian very active in the formation and organization of the Laotian refugee groups in the United States. That initially Pao was extremely active and seemed sincerely concerned about the Laotian refugees. However, within the past two or three years he has become extremely selfish in desiring the organization to work for him personally. In addition he is contacting the various Laotians suggesting and trying to collect money from them and giving it to he, Gen. Pao. He has had family members and friends replace paid workers in the Laotian organizations. And seems to be endeavoring to gain control of the entire Laotian refugees organizations.

Sincerely,

United States Attorney

Re Detroit airtel to Butte dated 7/15/85.

In referenced airtel [redacted] residing in [redacted] reported that VANG PAO is using the LAO FAMILY COMMUNITY, INC., a refugee settlement organization to extort $1,000.00 per family from the newly-arrived refugees.

A highly reliable, well-placed source on LAO matters provided some background on this situation. [redacted] [redacted] It was further explained there is a great deal of intra-group fighting between the four sub-groups of the HMONG tribe. VANG PAO's clan is of the WHITE sub-group, whereas CHA MOUA's clan is of the BLUE sub-group. the KU or KUE and the HANG clans are both of the BLUE sub-group and it is believed the XIONGS are also members of the BLUE sub-group. It is noted that most of the leads for interview are with members of the BLUE sub-group of the HMONG tribe.

Butte should note that all contacts at Detroit with potential victims have been unproductive in evidence collection or cooperative witnesses. This is partially due to the language barrier and fear of ethnical leaders. Therefore, successful prosecution of the LAO FAMILY COMMUNITY, INCORPORATED, does not seem feasible unless Butte has witnesses who can produce evidence of the threats alleged. Detroit is not setting forth leads on [redacted] furnished by [redacted] and all additional leads to the discretion of Butte.
